FOREWORD

BY HIS GRACE THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY

RONALD SINCLAIR brought great joy and great inspiration into the lives of all who knew him. It was my good fortune to bring him from the Canterbury Diocese to be a Canon of Chester Cathedral. There before the war and during it he exercised a wonderful ministry. It was an added delight when we discovered his powers of caricature. Each fresh work of his skilful art, with its gentle and whimsical 'leg-pulling,' was hailed eagerly by its victims as by all others.

From Chester he went to Guildford and did great work there as Provost. It was again my good fortune to bring him back to the Canterbury Diocese, but only a short while before he died. He had to bear many physical disabilities as the years went on. He bore them all with undaunted courage. To the end he brought to everyone the same joy and inspiration. This little volume reveals again the gaiety of his spirit and the skill of his pen. He was a great lover of all his brethren and a great preacher of the Love of Christ, the power of which he knew so well.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE

When Canon Sinclair died in May 1953 the present book was very nearly finished, but four letters of the alphabet were found to be missing. With the consent of his family these gaps were filled, and it should be noted that C, M, Q, and X are by another hand.

DO YOU KNOW?

' B stands for Bishop . . . '

A's for Archdeacon—
A diocesan force;
His clothes were intended
For riding a horse.

B stands for Bishop—
This one is benign;
'Don't worry, old fellow,
The decision is mine'.

C can be Christmas
With all that it brings:
So very exhausting
But full of good things.

Dis for Deans—
Whilst some stay at home
To run their Cathedrals,
There are others who roam!

E is for Easter;
Exchequer as well;
Easter offerings are taxed,
Which is rather a sell!

" THAT WAS HALF MY EASTER OFFERING THAT WAS - "

F is for Forms
Which the poor parson fills:
The Rector of Puddlemarsh
Takes aspirin pills!

G is for Gaiters;
But may I suggest
That calves which are thin
In top boots would look best?

His for Hymn-books.
Which one shall it be?
E.H., A. & M.,
S. of P., B.B.C.?

I is the Infant
Baptized in September,
Whom you met in the street
But failed to remember!

Jis for Judges,
And Joshua too;
Our General will tell you
Their tactics were true!

K is for Kneelers,
For those whose knees bend;
But some are afraid
Their trousers may rend!

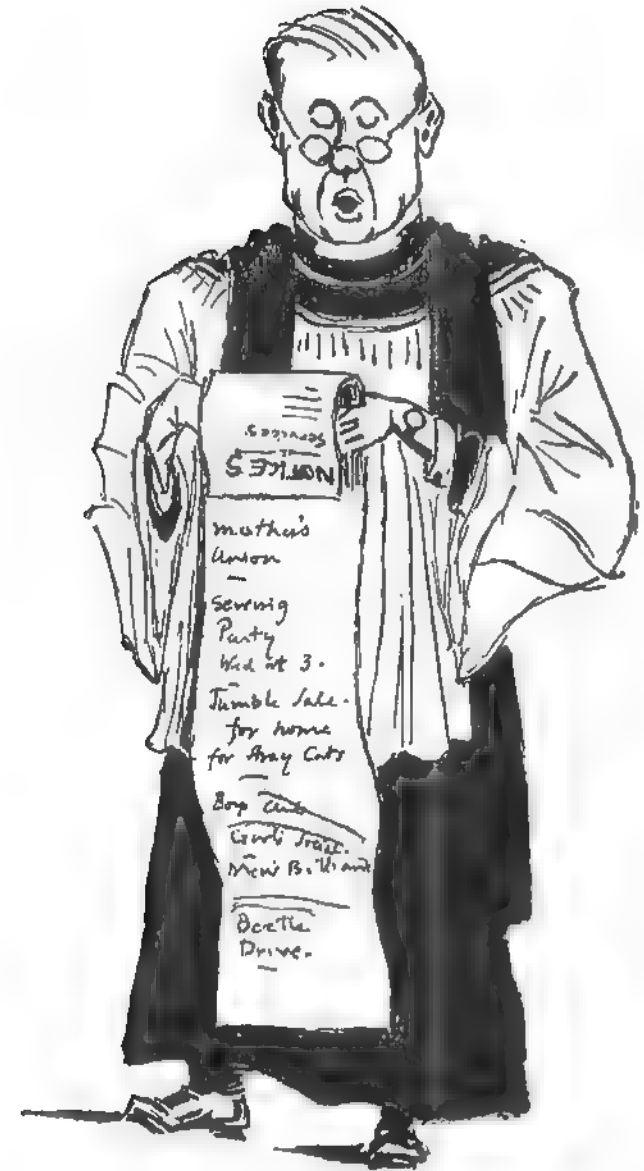

L is Low Church,
Athletic and hearty;
His splendid moustache
Is the badge of his party!

M's Matrimonial:
I think you'll agree
That we should keep weddings
As nice as can be!

Nare the Notices
 Nobody heeds,
 Whether put on the board,
 Or when Dear Vicar reads!

O stands for Organ,
Organist too;
When they pull all their stops
What a hullabaloo!

P's of course Parson.
Let laymen beware;—
If you enter this carriage
Take care not to swear!

Q's for the Quire
With men fat and lean;
That in our opinion's
Best heard and not seen!

Ris our Rector,
Turned sixty is he;
Yet down at Tadhampton
He hit sixty-three!

S is for Spike;
With buttons and sash,
Buckle-shoes and biretta
He makes quite a splash!

Tare the Titles
 That few seem to know:
 To say 'Rather Reverend'
 Is hardly just so!

Bishops are Right Reverend

Deans and Provosts are Very Reverend

Archdeacons are Venerable

Canons, whether Residentiary or Honorary are Reverend.
 Canon

And all the rest are plain Reverend.

Yes : even Rural Deans !

U's Undertaker,
Deferential but grim;
Perhaps he is thinking
They'll soon bury him!

V stands for Verger;
This one's rather grand,
Our Dean in procession's
A sheep in his hand.

W's Wardens,
One fat and one thin:
What really they're after's
To get money in!

X is anonymous,
I have seen its use
In 'Xmas' and 'Xtian'—
A naughty abuse!

Y is for Youth
(With a capital Y);
To land him in church
You must use the right fly.
